

LinuxTag

International Meeting Place for the Open Source Industry

Facts & Figures 2011

Total area (m ²)	2,800
Exhibitors	120
Trade visitors	11,582
<hr/>
Participation: hall/row stand 2011 (EUR/m ²)	182,-
Frequency	Annual
Next event	23-26 Mai 2012

Brief description

LinuxTag is Europe's leading congress and exhibition for open source software and Linux. The largest event of its kind, LinuxTag bridges the gap between the developer community and the business world. The 2012 event is expected to attract more than 11,000 trade visitors, IT decision makers, business managers, vendors, developers, media representatives, users and other interested professionals to the Berlin ExpoCenter City.

LinuxTag includes a top-notch conference programme with special theme days, an exhibition and a wide selection of tutorials workshops and certification programmes. Visitors can communicate with experts on-site and learn about the strategies behind the newest trends and developments. They can also attend lectures and network with peers.

Each year, top-ranking guest speakers present more than 250 lectures and participate in interactive panel discussions. Keynote speakers from around the world and Linux scene evangelists attract international audiences to the lecture programmes. The e-government theme is especially appropriate in Berlin with its close proximity to government administrations and political decision makers. The Business & Public Authorities Congress is an important annual event for CIOs, IT consultants and OS users.

Information exchange and dissemination has the greatest potential at the LinuxTag conference trade show. LinuxTag attracts everyone from keynote speakers and kernel developers, to employers, trendsetters, Linux veterans and newcomers.

Key themes at LinuxTag:

- Comprehensive conference program with integrated Business & Public Authorities Congress
- OS exhibit (commercial exhibitors and free projects)
- Guided tours
- Recruitment and careers: huge job wall and training themes at Academy Day on Saturday, 26 May 2012
- Workshops, certification (LPI), tutorials
- Linux Night matchmaking and "come together" event (Thursday, 24.05.2012)
- Security Day with hacking contest by Astaro (Friday, 25.05.2012)

Visitor target groups

Community: IT-developers, administrators, free projects, users, people interested in Linux and open source software, IT specialists looking for something new

Business: CIOs, Linux and open source vendors and companies, IT decision-makers, IT consultants, buyers, OS users from the public sector, business and media communities (publishers and agencies)

Media: newspapers and trade journals

Others: private users and newcomers, university students, school-children, school groups, teachers

Event sponsor

LinuxTag e.V., Technische Universität Kaiserslautern, 67653 Kaiserslautern, Germany
Tel. +49-700-LINUXTAG, info@linuxtag.org, www.linuxtag.org

Organizer

Messe Berlin GmbH, Messedamm 22, 14055 Berlin, Project Manager: Petra Kuhfuß
Tel. +49 30 3038-2195, Fax: +49 30 3038-2195, e-mail: kuhfuss@messe-berlin.de, www.linuxtag.org

Messe Berlin GmbH · Messedamm 22 · 14055 Berlin
Telefon +49(0)30 / 3038-0 · Telefax +49(0)30 / 3038-2325
www.messe-berlin.de · E-mail central@messe-berlin.de